

KATE RACKLEY, Instructor

Kate Rackley began dancing at the age of nine under the training of Jana Owen and Amy Faimon. After graduating high school, she attended CLI Conservatory just outside of New York City, where she trained intensively for ten months under Teddy Forance, Martha Nichols, and Riley Watts. During her time at CLI, Kate performed in multiple concept films and live performances.

Following graduation, Kate was invited to return to CLI Conservatory as an intern, assisting Teddy Forance, Martha Nichols, and Riley Watts for an additional year. She has since been offered two professional dance contracts with Royal Caribbean Entertainment and continues to expand her career as a performer, choreographer, and educator.

Kate travels throughout the Midwest teaching and choreographing and currently teaches weekly at Midwest Dance Mechanix. She also travels with The Branch Dance Experience, sharing her passion for movement, artistry, and growth with dancers of all ages.
